

World Stop Pressure Ulcer Day 2020

Tallaght University Hospital, Dublin, Ireland

On November 19th Tallaght University Hospital, Dublin, Ireland joined hospitals across the globe in observing World Stop Pressure Ulcer Day! The aim of World stop pressure ulcer day is to promote awareness of pressure ulcer prevention, highlight the devastating harm pressure ulcers can cause and to provide information to patients, carers and TUH staff about pressure ulcer prevention.

Displayed on the stands from each ward was a speech bubble stating why that ward wanted to prevent pressure ulcer, Also, achievement certificates were presented to all the wards that have reached over a hundred days free from a Patient acquiring a pressure ulcer. Osborne Ward 300days, Ruttle Ward 140 days, Maguire Ward 150 days and CCU 120 days. In recognition of all the hard work throughout the year each ward received a thank you card signed by the Hospital CEO and the Director of Nursing and a tub of sweets.

Helen Strapp RANP Tissue Viability

Tallaght University Hospital Promoting World Stop Pressure Ulcer Day 2020
Director of Nursing, Consultant Geriatrician, Nurse Practice Development Lead, Nurses,
Ward Managers and CPC'S

